

Microsoft PowerApps: A bliss for 'Non-Coders'

Dear Readers,

The 'out-of-the-box' and the 'user-friendly' approach by the software developed by Microsoft are well accepted by the developers. Recently, Microsoft has launched a 'Solution' which is wrapped in the combination of technologies under 'Microsoft Power Platform'.

Microsoft Power Platform consists of Power BI, PowerApps and Microsoft Flow. The newest entry is of PowerApps – which build apps in hours and easily connect to data, uses Excel-like expressions to add logic and run on the web, iOS, and Android devices.

PowerApps has become the life savior for the end users because it follows the 'No-Code' rules. That means a user can create an app using the PowerApps platform without using any logic or long codes. The main crux, of PowerApps, is:
